

THE SLEEPING PROJECT

This work was created based on Lee's recollections of riding a night train, and having heard a story from an elderly gentleman in the same compartment of how he had survived the concentration camp as a child. Please write your name and contact details on the lottery slip and place it in the box. Lee Mingwei or one of the museum's staff members will serve as the host, and invite those who have been selected to participate in this project. This will no doubt prove to be a memorable night. Those chosen to take part will be asked, for the duration of the exhibition, to lend us the items from the space in which they usually sleep. Although the content of the conversations that will unfold in the museum will not be recorded or made public, the personal items of those who participate in this project will be left behind on the nightstand.
